Rachmatul Lailiah, NIM: 202202020171. Peran Tim Pendamping Keluarga Dalam Program Percepatan Penurunan Stunting di Desa Sumbermulyo Kecamatan Jogoroto Kabupaten Jombang. Pembimbing:

Penelitian ini bertujuan untuk menganalisis dan mendeskripsikan bagaimana peran pendamping keluarga terhadap program penurunan stunting di Desa Sumbermulyo Kecamatan Jogoroto Kabupaten Jombang. Serta, menganalisis dan mendeskripsikan faktor pendukung dan penghambat peran tim pendamping keluarga pada program percepatan penurunan stunting di Desa Sumbermulyo Kecamatan Jogoroto Kabupaten Jombang. Penelitian ini menggunakan teori peran menurut Robert K. Merton (1957) dengan 5 dimensi yaitu (1) kumpulan peran, (2) konflik peran, (3) tekanan peran, (4) kinerja peran, dan (5) harapan peran.

Penelitian ini merupakan penelitian kualitatif deskriptif yang dilakukan di Desa Sumbermulyo, Kecamatan Jogoroto, dengan fokus pada kumpulan peran, konflik peran, tekanan peran, kinerja peran, dan harapan peran. Sumber data diperoleh melalui wawancara dan observasi, dengan informan utama adalah anggota Tim Pendamping Keluarga yang bertugas di desa tersebut.

Hasil penelitian ini menunjukkan bahwa anggota TPK menghadapi kompleksitas dalam menjalankan berbagai peran, seperti pendamping keluarga dan tanggung jawab pribadi. TPK berperan penting dalam penyuluhan kesehatan, gizi, dan pencegahan stunting, serta menunjukkan kinerja positif dalam meningkatkan kesadaran masyarakat. Selain itu, TPK aktif memfasilitasi rujukan kesehatan dan mengelola program bantuan sosial bagi keluarga berisiko stunting. Meskipun demikian, masih ada tantangan terkait koordinasi dan manajemen data yang perlu diperbaiki. Faktor pendukung keberhasilan program stunting meliputi dukungan pemerintah, kolaborasi antar sektor, dan keterlibatan masyarakat, sedangkan hambatan meliputi rendahnya pendidikan, kondisi ekonomi, dan kendala budaya. Dukungan berkelanjutan dalam bentuk pelatihan dan sumber daya sangat penting untuk efektivitas program ini di masa depan.

SUMMARY

Rachmatul Lailiah, NIM: 202202020171. The Role of Family Companion Teams in the Stunting Reduction Acceleration Program in Sumbermulyo Village, Jogoroto District, Jombang Regency. Supervisor:

This study aims to analyze and describe the role of family companions in the stunting reduction program in Sumbermulyo Village, Jogoroto District, Jombang Regency. As well as, analyzing and describing the supporting and inhibiting factors of the role of family companion teams in the stunting reduction acceleration program in Sumbermulyo Village, Jogoroto District, Jombang Regency. This study uses role theory according to Robert K. Merton (1957) with 5 dimensions, namely (1) role collection, (2) role conflict, (3) role pressure, (4) role performance, and (5) role expectations.

This study is a descriptive qualitative study conducted in Sumbermulyo Village, Jogoroto District, with a focus on role collection, role conflict, role pressure, role performance, and role expectations. Data sources were obtained through interviews and observations, with the main informants being members of the Family Assistance Team assigned to the village.

The results of this study indicate that TPK members face complexity in carrying out various roles, such as family companions and personal responsibilities. TPK plays an important role in health, nutrition, and stunting prevention counseling, and shows positive performance in increasing public awareness. In addition, TPK actively facilitates health referrals and manages social assistance programs for families at risk of stunting. However, there are still challenges related to coordination and data management that need to be improved. Supporting factors for the success of the stunting program include government support, collaboration between sectors, and community involvement, while obstacles include low education, economic conditions, and cultural barriers. Continuous support in the form of training and resources is essential for the effectiveness of this program in the future.
